

Estate Planning Pre-Meeting Organizer

This form is provided as an aid to you in preparing to meet with one of our attorneys to discuss the subject of estate planning, which can include wills, trusts, gifts, health care and other powers of attorney and so forth.

It is intended as an aid, not a burden.

What we, as attorneys, are looking for is not the last detail about your holdings of stocks and bonds, but rather people among your circle of friends and family, who may need special attention, unique provisions either due to their situation or your feelings about them.

When we examine your assets, again, we are not seeking a “to the penny” valuation, but rather we are seeking information about the assets which may require special attention, special language in the documents you want us to prepare.

Please use this form as you find comfortable, making notes that will prompt our discussion and allow us to produce documents that really do the job you want them to do.

Your Business or Occupation, Retirement Benefits, Other Owners and Advisors

People Who Might Make Good Guardians for Children, or Good Executors or Trustees of Your Estate. Trusted Advisors

Name	Address	Function

